

Abstract

[0025] An EASY SLIDE conduit management system. The system enables conduit, piping, or the like to be partially or fully secured to a building or other type of structure. The system includes a series of one or more channel supports having openings contained therein and retaining elements configured to secure the conduit, pipe, or the like within the openings. The system facilitates the quick and efficient installation and control of conduit in most commercial, retail, industrial, residential, and other environments.
